

A light to my path. Psalm 119:105

Darkness to Light

Turning on a light removes darkness. When the light is off, darkness returns. Mixing the color white with black yields gray; white with brown yields beige; white with red yields pink; and white with yellow yields lemon chiffon. The common denominator above is white. White has an influence on the other colors, but it is not dominant. God is light, and in Him is no darkness. He sent a spiritual light to each person through Jesus. God's light does not dominate, but when we allow it to do so, it is a strong influence. Selah

I pray that your life will be strongly influenced by God's light, and you will be a blessing of good influence to all people. Shalom!!
