

A light to my path. Psalm 119:105

When LORD?

Frustration or battle weariness causes us to ask, “When LORD?” In August 2007, I had interstitial cystitis of the bladder that required medication for the remainder of my life. Away from home I searched for restrooms. In October 2008, a Christian brother prayed healing over me. The next day I stopped taking the medication. Over the next four years I experienced episodes of pain but stood against it in Jesus’ name without medication. In 2012 all pain and restroom searches stopped. You may be asking for healing; money; a baby; your spouse to love you, not hurt you; your father or mother to love and approve you. The list seems endless. Abba tells us He is God our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. He promises help at the break of dawn, which is when His work for our situation is complete and the darkness fades. I speak exceedingly abundant blessings over you as you stand in His Presence through the dark time trusting Abba to deliver you. You are already delivered from anything the world throws at you through Jesus’ finished work! Shalom!!
