

A light to my path. Psalm 119:105

Gift or Giver?

We are conditioned by the world to want the gift more than we want the giver. Some women marry a man for his wealth. Some men marry a woman for her outward beauty or her talent. When more wealth or more beauty comes along there is a divorce. Jesus told the people that they sought Him for the bread He could give. A man had two sons. The younger impetuous son demanded his inheritance while the father lived. The older angry son believed he had to work for his inheritance. Both sons focused on the gift, not the giver. I have prayed for sick people to be healed only to watch them die because they did not look to and desire the Giver so the gift of life could enter them. When you want a gift, first desire the Giver, Jesus, then ask Him for it.

I bless you with this revelation. The Giver is more desirable and lasts longer than the gift. Selah!

Shalom!!
