

A light to my path. Psalm 119:105

Refined as Gold!

Walking through our days, we experience trials. A student golfer daily honing skills that lead to golfing gold. A young lad dreaming of being a baseball player and practicing to earn a place in the Hall of Fame.

Young corporate executives climbing the difficult and unstable corporate ladder of Chief Executive Officer. Medical students endure long hours of study and grueling internships to be successful doctors. An entrepreneur seeking a market niche for wealth. A church pastor who ministers to hurting people. First responders who save and keep safe disaster survivors and themselves. Mothers and fathers want the best for their children watching over their growth environment to protect them from the world's wicked devices. Those trying to get ahead in the face of failure upon failure. There are intermittent joys and sorrows along the way, but none is in vain. God uses afflictions for His sake to refine us as in a furnace of gold (Isaiah 48:10-11 NKJV). Life's afflictions purge our lives, like removing the dross from gold (Malachi 3:3). To endure life's afflictions, we must turn to God through Jesus, the Son.

Jesus does not deliver us from outside our trial, instead, He is right beside us in our trial!

Beloved, as Jesus walked with the three young Hebrews in King Nebuchadnezzar's furnace, bringing them safely through their trial, so He will do for you today as you walk with Him (Daniel 3:12-30).
Shalom!!
